McMride Gets a Decision Over Fisherty After a Fierce Eight-round Bout. The Referee's Ruting Unpopular Woods Re-ceives a Drubbing at the Hands of Keefe. The sporting element in the New Manhattan

A. C. ruled supreme last night, and there was a marked revival of the enthusiasm which had been dampened by the reform wave of the previous week. The incentive was furnished by three promising bouts between the boxers who had kicked against being turned down after the matches had been arranged. Like most postponed fixtures, the affair suffered in point of attendance, but still there was a fair muster on hand to see J. J. Frawley was the referee, and his decisions appeared to give general satisfaction until the judges disagreed as to the merits of Mc-Bride of New York and Flaherty of Lowell Then he aroused a storm of disapproval by picking McBride after Fisherty appeared to have done the lion's share of the work. The Lowell lad was moved to wrathful tears by the decision and left the ring vowing to get even

He claimed to have wasted ten pounds on three days' notice, and that the weighing-in of McBride was a transparent fiction. His seconds also expressed their chagrin in forcible terms between the shricks of the onlookers, who were clamoring to have the ruling corrected to at least a draw, Frawley smiled through all the fuse, and excitement subsided without further trouble when the star pair put in an appearance.

The opening bout was one of eight rounds, at 233 pounds, be; ween Dan Keeffe of South Norwalk and Harry Woods of San Francisco, In beight and reach the former had a decided call. and his swinging right went in over his rival's guard frequently. Woods stood up to rival's guard frequently. Woods stood up to his work well for four rounds, and plied his left at short range with telling effect. He then tired to a standstill, but contrived to stay in the game by dodging and clinehing. In the eighth round Keeffe went for his man with both hands at I pummelled him into a dazed condition. Woods just managed to last the round, but the decision, of course, went to Keeffe.

Danny Mckride of New York then essayed to dispose of Martin Fisherty of Lowell in eight rounds. The weight was said to be 120 pounds, but McReide stripped much grosser than his lithe opponent. The lowell lad jumped in at once and tapped McReide with his left. Danny steadied him with a body punch, and the pair lithe opponent. The Lowell lad jumped in at once and tapped McBride with his left. Danny steadied him with a body punch, and the pair then mixed things in lively style.

Each showed marked eleverness with both hands. The second round opened with a sharp rally, out of which McBride emerged with blood tricking from his right eye. The clip aroused the New Yorker, who reached Flaherty's face with a dush left, followed like a fissh with a right on the neck, which floored the New Englander. The latter was up again and forcing the fight when the gong sounded.

McBride had all his work cut out for him in the next two rounds, the Lowell had being in a very aggressive vein. Flaherty forced the pace to a startling degree in the lifth round, and rushed McBride all over the ring. The local man mixed matters in the next round, and the exchanges became fast and furious.

Flaherty resumed his rushing tactics with great effect in the seventh round and scored rapidly with both hands. McBride got in some sungers on the face and body in return, but clearly lacked the speed of his rival. The windup found both lads fighting viciously to impress the judges.

These officials disagreed, one being apparently carried away by the resolute style in which McBride used both hands toward the finish. After a long discussion Referee Frawley decided in favor of McBride.

A fistic treat was loosed for when Tommy West, the aggressive welter weight, faced Kid McCoy for the final bout of ten rounds at catch weights. McCoy towered over his rival in height, but gave away lumps of weight. West seemed in a feverish hurry to get the purse, and he rushed at his man furfously.

McCoy guarded the vulnerable spots well, but made no effort even at countering. The round was West's from start to finish, although most of his blows were scored on his shifty opponent's back.

When the men came up again West sprang at his opponent with the apparent intention of finishing him at once. He got in a few light elips, but then McCoy cut loose with both hands and beat his man to the floor.

West took his full time and then stood up manfully, only to be sent down with a shower of blows on the face. Again West struggled to his feet and kried to save himself by elinching, but McCoy gave him no respite, and once more West went down.

went down.

He was game to the last, however, and McCoy had to floor him six times in rapid auccession before the agony ended. The round lasted 2 minutes and 25 seconds, and was a complete revelation to those who thought McCoy had been trying all he knew at the start.

CANNOT FIGHT IN MEXICO.

Dan Stuart Says, However, that All the Buttles Will Surely Take Place. CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 31 .- The prospects that the fight between Bob Fitzsimmons and Peter Maher will be contested within the borders of Mexico are diminishing daily, and it may now be regarded as a certainty that it will not take place upon Mexican soil. Gen. Manuel Gongalez Cosio, Minister of Communications and Public Works, has made the announcement in his capacity as a Minister of State that the fight will positively not be permitted on the soil of Mexico, and it is not now believed that the managers of the contest will make any further efforts to have the contest decided in Mexican territory. Et. Paso. Jan. 31.—Dan Stuart last night gave the following to the press:

"I am in receipt of a telegram from the city of Mexico denying the report sent out from that point that the Rurales had been ordered out. Were it true, it would not discomit me. His Excellency President Diaz is made to appear unduly exercised. He will have no occasion to worry any over the matter. I am over $25,000 out of pocket by reason of the Hot Springs affair, and pride myself on the possession of a sufficient amount of ordinary intelligence to have profited by that experience.

"Wete I to divinge the place of meeting, I, of course, could easily assuage the fears of President Diaz and the other dignitaries who fear an invasion of carnival visitors. I do not care to be serving notices on the public every few minutes, and now give it out as an absolute certainty that all of the fights will take place. This is final and irrevocable." Et. PALMER GOES HOME TO-DAY.

Phil Dwyer Congratulates the Lad-" Pedtar" Will Fight Barry.

One of the first to congratulate "Pedlar" Palmer upon his fine showing with George Dixon. when the diminutive Englishman retired to his dressing room after the bout at the Madison Square Garden on Thursday night, was Phil Dwyer, the well-known turfman. Dwyer does not usually compliment boxers on their ability in public, but he overstepped his rule this time and, taking Palmer by the hand, said carnestly: "You are indeed a very clever fellow, and England ought to be proud of you. Come to see us again; we will always be ready to receive you." Palmer was taken aback by this greeting, and

Falmer was taken aback by this greeting, and in reply said:
"I am much obliged to you, Mr. Dwyer, and hope that I will always be held in high esteem by the American public. I wish to thank everybody for the way I have been treated. I will come here again next fail, and will give all those that desire to fight me a chance."

Falmer and his manager, Alf Snelling, called at the Police Guzett Office vesterday to leave a challenge to fight George Dixon at 118 pounds for the belt new heid by the colored lad. They were told that the feather-weight trophy was Dixon's personal property, he having won it according to the conditions. AMONG BLUE GRASS TOUNGSTERS. Andrew Freedman Describes His Visit to Noted Farms. Andrew Freedman, President of the New York Baseball Club, who was Richard Croker's travelling companion on the Southern trip that ended on last Wednesday, became quite a horseman during his visit to Kentucky and Ten nessee. He has always been fond of a fast roadster, and has never missed a horse show, so that he fell an easy victim to the fascinations of the stock farms. If a cold wave had not hurried the travellers off for Florida, Mr. Freedman might have been tempted to forsake baseball for the turf, but, as it turned out, he is still faithful to

"We found the Lexington turfmen in a hopeful frame of mind regarding racing in New York," said Mr. Freedman yesterday, "The news of the confirmation of the constitutionality of the Percy-Gray law had just reached them. GOOD THINGS GO THROUGH.

The "Bookles" Hit Bard at the Crescent

City dockey Club Races. New ORLEANS, Jan. 31. The bookmakers got good drubbing to-day, as every winner was backed for a good thing. Abger, at 7 to 10, won the two-year-old race from l'armesan, who is much improved and should have won. Lady McCann, backed down from 10 to 2, captured the first race in a gallop. Boreed, with New-com on his back, was backed for a "killing," and after being almost left at the post, won, eased up. Then the crowd backed Roosevelt from 6 down to 5 to 2, and he won all the way, the favorite, Wolsey, bleeding, and being pulled up. With money to burn, the talent then backed Evanesca from 8 to 5 off the boards, and the good half brother to Pessara, after being next to last at the head of the stretch, galloped over his neld and won, pulled up. Altogether it was a day to be remembered by the "bookles." Sum-

RUPPERT ENGAGES HAMILTON. The Noted Colored Jockey Still Near Lakeland.

Jac Ruppert, Jr., yesterday engaged Anthony Hamilton as his jockey for the coming season. The contract has not yet been signed, but the arrangements as to terms are mutually satisfactory and the papers will be closed in a few days. Hamilton won with Hornpipe in the last Brooklyn Handicap, at 105 pounds, and with Lazzarone, in the Suburban, with 115 pounds up. This year he will pilot Counter Tenor in the handicap.

Hamilton's first Brooklyn Handicap was won for William Lakeland on Exile in 1889, and the arrangement will keep him in close relations with his first employer, who is training Mr. Ruppert's first string. He will also rade the starters from the Morris Park division, however. The combination of Hamilton and Lakeland should be a great help to the young New York turfman. Hamilton will also ride the Lakelang string when the engagements do not conflict.

Beath of Trainer John M. Gentry. LEXINGTON, Jan. 31.-The well-known trainer of thoroughbreds, John M. Gentry, 47 years old, died last night of consumption. He prepared more Derby winners than any other Western trainer. He began life as a jockey for Henry Clay's son, John.

DR. RANNEY'S 4-11-44 AVERAGE. He Has Discovered that It Made Rim the Mascot of the Tourney.

The old saying that "there is a reason for everything, if you can only find it out," forcibly applies to the most amusing incident in the reo ord of the interclub amateur billiard tourney, which J. Byron Stark, the "Beau Brummell' of the New Manhattan A. C., won gallantly, and in which Dr. Ranney's highest single average was the gig combination 4-11-44. Dr. Ranney is a writer of standard scientific works and an ardent admirer of the gentleman's game. He spent several hours in figuring on the single and grand averages of the tourney a day or two ago, in order to fix the cause of the appearance of the phylacterian numbers on his score.

The gig numbers are supposed to bring good luck, and Dr. Ranney's investigation, so he confided to a SUN reporter yesterday, demonstrated beyond question that they had made him the real mascot of the tourney; in other words, that in every tourney game excepting the one that he himself won he had been the mascot for the other fellow.

Dr. Ranney explained his startling discovery on Wednesday night at the dinner of the stars at the Hotel Waldorf after Arthur Townsend. the "scratch" star from the St. Joseph's Lyceum, had received an order for a $75 dress suit offered by an amateur billiard lover for the highest run of the tourney. It was fifty-seven carroms, made against Edward Gardner, The two newcomers, Gardner and Fred Poggenburg, the "Liederkrans Hercules," showed that they could develop hot stuff by tying Frank Keeney, the nervy Oxford Club tying Frank Keeney, the nervy Oxford Club star, for second prize. The loss of his infant son prevented Keeney from further participation in the tourney so that those ties might be settled.

The grand averages of the players, cast in decimals by Dr. Ranney and Maurice Daly, are: Townsend, 5.87; Stark, 5.50; Keeney, 4.68; Gardner, 4.34; Dr. Miller, 4.15; Poggenburg, 4; Barnard, 3.77; Dr. Ranney, 3.60; Dr. Jennings, 3.54; Fred Oakes, 3.57. The averages of Stark and Townsend are above last year's tourney in Brooklyn, while the others are below.

Maurice Daly yesterday made this comment on the tourney; "The whole record shows that while the boys fell below the averages of last year, as a group, they have made progress in correct knowledge of the game. I feel certain that these contests have become a feature of amateur billiards. That will be a first-class thing for the sport. It elevates and stimulates the best and most entertaining of all indoor aports."

CRICKET. The Record of the Brooklyn C. C. for the Season of 1895,

The enigma of last cricket season was the Brooklyn C. C. The eleven started off by defeating all its opponents, but the wind-up was disastrous. The team had a very fair batting side, F. J. Prendergast, G. C. Yeo, H. Helms, F. E. Wadbrook, E. B. Kay, and A. S. Durrant being all reliable men. The bowling, too, was not so very weak; but this department was poorly managed on several occasions. The eleven played eighteen matches, of which nine were won, four lost, and five drawn. One of the wins was afterward awarded by the League to the New York Club, and this was the beginning of the club's big drop. The following are the records:

WILL BE ROWED ON JUNE 26 No Course Selected, However, for the Four-

cornered College Races,

The committee in charge of the four-cornered boat race to be rowed by Harvard, Columbia, Cornell, and University of Pennsylvania held a meeting at the University Club last night. R. C. Watson, Harvard; Gul Richards, Columbia; H. S. White, Cornell, and J. A. Reath, University of Pennsylvania. The details of the race vere discussed at length, and it was finally decided that the contest should take place on June 26 weather permitting. With regard to course applications were received from Poughkeepsie, Saratoga, and Springfield. The supporters of Poughkeepsie offered the course, but did not offer to supply quarters for the crews.

Those backing Saratoga offered to do any-

Those backing Saratoga offered to do anything that the committee might designate, but the Springfield people made no direct proposition. The committee finally decided to postpone action until Springfield and Saratoga were visited, which will be done within the next two ways.
